First time buyers make up half of all new borrowers as new members boost savings to record high

Continuing to support new and existing borrowers in a volatile and dynamic market helped Leeds Building Society to a strong performance in the first six months of 2023.

A record 49% of all new borrowers were first time buyers as the UK's fifth-largest mutual delivered on its purpose to put home ownership within reach of more people, despite the challenging economic conditions.

2023 H1 key highlights:

- Helped even more first time buyers: almost half (49%) of all new borrowers¹ were taking their first steps onto the housing ladder, as the Society maintains its focus on helping more people into home ownership and supporting affordable housing schemes such as Shared Ownership, where we remain market leader².
- Strong lending performance: increased our market share of gross lending to 1.62%³ with a total of £1.9bn (H1 2022: £2.5bn) including six of the 10 biggest days of lending in the Society's history and June its busiest ever month for Shared Ownership⁴ lending.
- Record savings inflows: with an inflow of £1.4bn, the Society's biggest half year for new savings lifted total savings balances to a record £19.1bn.
- New membership record: more than 79,300 new members joined the Society, taking total membership to a new record of 878,000.
- Innovation to put home ownership within reach of more people: the Society was the first lender to partner with Experian, enabling potential borrowers to boost their credit score by taking account of their regular outgoings, giving them a better chance of a successful mortgage application. We also launched new savings accounts specifically designed for those building a home deposit or to staircase through Shared Ownership.
- Maintained financial strength and security: increased total assets to £26.9bn (H1 2022: £24.1bn), the highest in the Society's history. Profit before tax was £116.2m (H1 2022: £146.5m), supporting our ongoing commitment to reinvesting in the business and prioritising good value for members.

Richard Fearon, Leeds Building Society Chief Executive Officer, said:

"We've carried on lending across all market sectors and offering competitive savings accounts during a sustained period of economic volatility, seeing our membership climb to a new record.

"I'm proud of our continuing support for the affordable housing sector and the fact that nearly one in two of our new borrowers in the first six months of 2023 were first time buyers.

"After a long period at historic lows, interest rates have continued to rise with the effects felt by borrowers and savers alike, and we stand by both.

"As a business created to empower greater home ownership, we've stayed actively lending in a fast-changing market throughout 2023 and since March have accepted earlier applications for product transfers, giving existing borrowers six months before maturity to choose their new deal.

¹ 7,700 out of 15,800 new mortgage members in H1 2023 were first time buyers.

“We’ve moderated the impact of repeated Bank of England Base Rate rises by limiting increases in our standard variable rate and have worked hard to support borrowers facing financial difficulties with help tailored to their individual circumstances.

“Meanwhile for our savings members, we consistently pay above the average market rate⁵, which equates to more than £90m extra in their pockets.

“In response to continuing Base Rate rises, we’ve passed on increases to all our variable rate member savings accounts in a sustainable way intended to offer fair value across our range.

“We continue to invest in member value, technology which improves service, and in our fantastic people - their dedication and commitment to the Society’s purpose gives me confidence for the future, however challenging times may be.

“We’ve been there for our members during tumultuous external events throughout our long history and our financial strength and security means we’ll continue to support them.”

Supporting new and existing borrowers

- Retained position as the market-leading Shared Ownership lender, and secured the title of Best Shared Ownership Mortgage Lender in the 2023 What Mortgage Awards for the eighth consecutive year. June was our busiest ever month for Shared Ownership completions.
- Were among the first signatories to the Government’s new Mortgage Charter and the first lender to launch a simple, digital application process for borrowers seeking assistance.
- While the Charter formalises and extends the support measures we offer to borrowers in need, we continue to go further – we are not charging arrears fees, having stopped these charges early in the Covid-19 pandemic.
- Remain committed to supporting existing borrowers in taking product transfer alternatives to SVR, accepting applications for new deals six months before their current mortgage term matures.
- Launched Experian Boost, a unique partnership with financial data business Experian, which is already giving more first time buyers a better chance of a successful mortgage application.
- Continued to lend responsibly at all LTV (loan to value) bands up to 95%, serving new buyers with smaller deposits or existing homeowners with less equity.
- Launched Home Deposit Saver, a regular savings account with a top up of £500 when the saver receives their Leeds Building Society mortgage offer. Designed with first time buyers in mind but available to all prospective home buyers.
- Moderated increases in SVR by limiting the number of times rises have been passed on following changes in Bank Base Rate. Since December 2021, the Bank of England’s Monetary Policy Committee has raised Bank Base Rate by a total of 4.90%, whereas the Society’s SVR has increased by 2.70%.
- Arrears levels remain broadly stable at 0.63% (H1 2022: 0.62%), demonstrating our borrowers remain resilient and we continue to stress test for affordability at prudent levels to lend responsibly.

Supporting savings members and sustainably investing in value, service and financial security

- In a rising rate environment, continued to consistently pay savers more than the average market interest rate, equating to an annual benefit to our savings members of more than £90m.
- Offered highly-competitive fixed rate savings products, a market which has seen significant growth in demand this year, and secured 93 Best Buys for our ISAs and non-ISA products⁶.
- Record inflows of £1.4bn took total savings balances to a record £19.1bn.
- Invested in improving service and refurbishing premises across our national branch network, demonstrating our commitment to face-to-face service where this remains sustainable.
- Increased capital and reserves to £1.70bn (H1 2022: £1.57bn), well above the regulatory requirement, and continue to retain very strong levels of liquidity.
- Cost income ratio remains among the lowest in the financial services sector at 40.4%.

⁵ We paid an average rate of 1.83% against the rest of the market average of 1.30%. CACI’s CSDB, Stock, June 2022 to May 2023, latest data available. CACI is an independent company that provides financial benchmarking data of the retail cash savings market.
