The UK's fifth largest building society has lived up to its purpose of putting home ownership within reach of more people, generation after generation, and continued to support savers by generating the equivalent of £199.9 million in additional interest for members, as a result of paying 0.85% above the market average on savings rates^[2].

Annette Barnes, Leeds Building Society's Interim Chief Executive Officer, said:

"I'm proud of what we have delivered as a Society in the first half of 2025. I'm grateful to all of our colleagues, our members, and our intermediary partners for their contribution to our continued success, particularly in our 150th year.

"In the first half of 2025 we grew our membership to over one million; a significant milestone that reflects continued confidence in our mutual model. We've remained focused on our purpose of putting homeownership within reach of more people, generation after generation, by helping 9,600 people realise the dream of buying their first home.

"We've also continued to return value to our savings members through competitive and above average interest rates, equating to an extra £199.9 million annually in their pockets. As a mutual, we are only ever as strong as the relationship we hold with our members.

"We have continued to advocate on the issues our members care about. As a Society, we have been vocal about the value of Cash ISAs, which provide certainty for people in retirement, those buying their first home, or those saving for major life events.

"I was reassured to hear the Chancellor's commitment to supporting the right balance between saving and investing to encourage economic growth in her Mansion House speech. We have supported calls for an industry-led campaign to promote the value of investing and believe this will be an important step in improving public awareness. People should have the knowledge and confidence to make the right decisions for them and their circumstances.

"While reforms to ISAs aren't completely off the table, we'll work with the Government and the wider sector to highlight the importance of cash savings and giving people a fair choice in where they keep their money.

"In this milestone year we have continued to live our mutual values through action, donating a share of £150,000 to five organisations across the UK that applied for a programme of grant funding aligning with the Society's aim of supporting vulnerable people in need of a safe and secure home.

"Whilst the savings and mortgage markets have become increasingly competitive, our strong and consistent performance, coupled with our accomplished team, gives me real confidence in both our short-term future and in our long-term vision to guide the Society forwards for generations to come."

Maintained strong financial performance

- The Society demonstrated its continued financial strength through achieving a profit before tax of £104.4 million (H1 2024: £86.4 million^[5])
- The Society maintained a strong capital and liquidity position, with all capital ratios materially more than the regulatory minima. Our Common Equity Tier 1 (CET1) capital ratio was 25.8% at 30 June 2025 (31 December 2024: 25.7%).
- The cost to income ratio, after adjusting for transformation costs, continues to be among the lowest in the sector at 44.0% (H1 2024: 47.3%) demonstrating a commitment to balancing members' needs and long-term financial sustainability.
- The Society's savings balances increased to £25.5 billion (Dec 2024: £24.5 billion)
- The Society maintained low arrears levels at 0.56% (Dec 2024: 0.61%), a testament to the hard work of its teams to support borrowers facing financial difficulty.

Supported new and existing borrowers

- Through investment in its digital capability, the Society has worked to make customer and broker journeys easier and is making good progress on transforming its core IT infrastructure.
- Broker net promoter score has improved from 55 to 67 out of 100 in the first half of the year.
- The Society helped 9,600 first time buyers secure a mortgage (H1 2024: 7,800). March was a standout month, with a record-breaking 2,700 first time buyer completions.
- It reduced its mortgage affordability stress testing to responsibly increase the amount it will lend to borrowers following updates in regulatory lending guidance which support UK growth

Supported members and communities when they needed us

- The Society exceeded £240,000 in fundraising for Barnardo's, the UK's largest children's charity, to build brighter futures for young people leaving the care system.
- The Society announced a programme of grant funding linked to projects in support of safe and secure housing, inviting charities to apply for the programme and subsequently choosing to fund five organisations across the UK.
- In its 150th year, the Society has committed to supporting communities around it by allowing colleagues to volunteer an additional seven hours in a skills-based volunteering role.
